ELECTIONS IN WISCONSIN

A Capsule View

The Wisconsin electoral process is based on four regularly scheduled elections, held as prescribed in Chapters 5-12, Wisconsin Statutes: the spring primary, the spring election, the September primary and the general election.

The spring primary on the third Tuesday of February of each year is followed by the spring election on the first Tuesday in April. The September primary is held on the second Tuesday in September in even-numbered years. It is followed by the November general election on the first Tuesday day after the first Monday.

Nonpartisan officials are chosen in the spring. These include the state superintendent of public instruction; all judicial officers; county board members; county executives; and town, village, city and school district officers. Partisan officials, chosen in the fall, include all other county administrative officials, members of the legislature, partisan state constitutional officers and members of the U.S. Congress. Obviously, not all of these offices are filled at each election because some have terms of 2, 4 or 6 years.

In presidential election years, the presidential preference primary election is held at the spring election, and the vote for U.S. President occurs at the general election in November. In some elections, Wisconsin voters are also asked through referendum questions to advise the state legislature or a local legislative body on matters of public policy or to ratify a proposed law, ordinance, or amendment to the Wisconsin Constitution.

The Wisconsin Electorate

History of the Suffrage. When Wisconsin became a state in 1848, suffrage was restricted to white or Indian males who were citizens of the United States or white male immigrants in the process of being naturalized. These men had to be at least 21 years of age and Wisconsin residents for at least one year preceding the election. In a referendum held in November 1849, suffrage was extended to male "colored persons". In 1908, the Wisconsin Constitution was amended to require that voters had to be citizens of the United States. Women's suffrage came with the 19th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution in 1920 (ratified by Wisconsin on June 10, 1919).

Size of the Electorate. Because Wisconsin does not maintain a statewide register of voters, the exact size of the current electorate is unknown. It is estimated that in 1998 there were 3,853,074 potential voters 18 years of age and older. The 1998 gubernatorial turnout was 1,756,014, or 45.6% of the potential electorate. An estimated 58% of eligible voters cast 2,196,169 ballots in the 1996 presidential election.

Age and Residence Requirements. The Wisconsin Constitution provides that every United States citizen age 18 or older is a qualified elector if he or she fulfills certain other requirements. The state constitution was amended in April 1986 to be consistent with the 26th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution, ratified by Wisconsin on June 22, 1971, which lowered the voting age from 21 to 18.

The right to vote in Wisconsin state and local elections is granted to U.S. citizens who have resided in the election district or ward for 10 days prior to the election. Residence for purposes of voting is statutorily defined as "the place where the person's habitation is fixed, without any present intent to move, and to which, when absent, the person intends to return."

Voter Registration. Voter registration is required by law in every Wisconsin town, village or city with a population of more than 5,000 and may be adopted by local ordinance in smaller municipalities. Voters may register by mail or in person with the municipal clerk, the county register of deeds or the city board of election commissioners in the case of residents of the City of Milwaukee.

Wisconsin law also permits registration on election day at the proper polling place, and municipal officials may designate other locations, such as fire stations or libraries for registration, or conduct door-to-door registration drives. In addition, high school students and staff may register at public high schools or, in some cases, private high schools designated by the municipal clerk. Voters registering in Wisconsin do not have to record a political party affiliation.

Selection of Candidates

Primaries. Until 1905 Wisconsin candidates for public office were selected through caucuses or conventions composed of delegates, eligible voters or members of a political party. Since then candidates have been chosen in primary elections, but the nominating caucus remains an optional method of selecting candidates for town and village offices. Aspirants must file a declaration of candidacy to run in a primary election, and they usually are required to file nomination papers signed by a specified number of persons eligible to vote in the district.

Nonpartisan February Primary. A nonpartisan primary election must be held in February if three or more candidates run for state superintendent of public instruction, county supervisor, any judicial office, or certain municipal offices. The two persons receiving the highest number of votes for the specific office in the primary are nominated to run as finalists in the nonpartisan election.

Partisan September Primary. The purpose of the September partisan primary is to select the party's nominees for the November election. Offices covered by the primary include: U.S. Senator, U.S. Congressional representative, state legislator or state constitutional officer (other than the state superintendent of public instruction), and most elective county administrative officers.

In a partisan primary the voter may vote on the ballot of only one political party (unlike the final general election where it is possible to select any party's candidate for a particular office). Frustrated voters often object that their choices are limited because they are not permitted to vote for candidates of more than one party. What they fail to recognize is that the primary is a nominating device for the political parties, designed to nominate the candidates who one political party will support against nominees of the other parties in the general election.

Most states have a closed primary system that requires voters to publicly declare their party allegiance before they can receive the primary ballot of a particular party. Wisconsin's "open primary" law does not require voters to make a public declaration of their party affiliation. Instead, the voter is provided with the primary ballots of all parties but once inside the voting booth can cast only one party's ballot. Wisconsin adopted the open primary for partisan offices through a referendum vote in November 1904. In 1905, the open primary was extended to the presidential preference primary.

The September primary is always held to select a party's candidates for the general election, regardless of the number of candidates seeking nomination. Thus, candidates must appear on the primary ballot, even if unopposed, in order to be nominated by their respective parties. (In the case of a special election, which is held at a time other than the general election to fill a vacated partisan office, a primary is not held if there is no more than one candidate for the party nomination of each partisan office.) The candidate receiving the highest number of party votes for an office becomes the party's nominee.

Presidential Preference Vote. Wisconsin conducts its presidential preference primary on the first Tuesday in April of each presidential election year. Because 1985 Wisconsin Act 304 repealed former statutory provisions regarding delegate selection for the national conventions and gave the political parties complete freedom to select their delegates on any basis they choose, the primary has no binding effect. It does, however, indicate voter preferences.

If a party's candidate for governor received at least 10% of the vote in the previous election, it is considered a "recognized party" eligible for the balloting. A committee, composed of officials of the recognized parties, meets on the last Tuesday in January prior to the primary and certifies to the state Elections Board the list of names to be placed on the presidential preference primary ballot. The committee lists the names of all nationally advocated or recognized candidates of the recognized parties and such other names as it chooses. Committee members include each party's state chairperson (or designee), one national committeeman and one committeewoman, designated by each state chairperson, the president and the minority leader of the senate (or designees), and the speaker and minority leader of the assembly (or designees). An additional member, traditionally the chief justice of the supreme court, is elected by the committee to serve as chairperson.

Any person named as a potential presidential candidate may withdraw from the ballot by filing a disclaimer with the Elections Board. Persons not named may have their names placed on the ballot by filing a nomination petition signed by a specified percentage of qualified electors with the board.

Elections

November Partisan General Elections. On the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November of each even-numbered year, the people of Wisconsin select their partisan state and county officials from a list of candidates that includes the winners of the September primary election plus “independent” candidates who are either unaffiliated or affiliated with minor parties not qualified for separate ballot status. “Write-in” votes may be cast for persons whose names do not appear on the ballot.

The November general election ballot includes a broad range of federal, state, and county offices. The constitutional offices of governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state, state treasurer, and attorney general are filled through a statewide vote. These officers are elected for 4-year terms in the November general elections in even-numbered years that alternate with the U.S. presidential election.

At every general election, a congressional representative is elected from each congressional district and a representative to the state assembly from each assembly district. U.S. senators, who serve 6-year terms, are also chosen at the appropriate general election. The 33 state senators are elected for 4-year terms, with the odd-numbered senate districts electing their senators in the years when a gubernatorial election is held and even-numbered senate districts electing their senators in the presidential election years.

The state's 72 counties elect their partisan officers, including a clerk, treasurer, clerk of circuit court, district attorney and register of deeds but not sheriff, at each general election. (Shawano and Menominee Counties jointly elect one district attorney.) Following the 1998 ratification of a constitutional amendment, county sheriffs will be elected for 4-year terms, beginning statewide in 2002. State law requires all counties either to elect a coroner or appoint a medical examiner. The post of surveyor may be filled by election or appointment at the county's option.

Vacancies in the offices of U.S. Senator, U.S. Congressional representative, state senator and representative to the assembly may be filled only by special election, but vacancies in state constitutional offices and most county offices are filled through appointment by the governor. The exception is that the lieutenant governor constitutionally succeeds the governor in case of a vacancy in that office.

April Nonpartisan Elections. Nonpartisan elections are held on the first Tuesday of April. The officials chosen in this election are state superintendent of public instruction; judicial officers; county executive (if the county elects one); county supervisor; town, village and city officers; and school board members. Because the terms of office vary, not all offices are filled each year. The only nonpartisan officers elected on a statewide basis are the state superintendent of public instruction and justices of the supreme court; all others are elected from the county, circuit, district or municipality represented.

The governor is authorized to fill vacancies that occur in nonpartisan state elective offices by temporary appointment. Gubernatorial appointments strongly influence the composition of the Wisconsin judiciary, because many of the state's justices and judges who are appointed to the bench are later elected to office by the voters.

Referendum and Recall

Referendum. A “referendum” is simply a question referred to the people for determination through an election. On the state level, Wisconsin provides for several types of referenda: 1) amendments to the state constitution, 2) measures extending the right of suffrage, 3) legislation requiring ratification prior to becoming effective, and 4) advisory questions.

The procedure for amending the Wisconsin Constitution requires that two consecutive legislatures must adopt an identically worded amendment, and a majority of the voters at a subsequent election must ratify the change.

An advisory referendum gives the legislature a means of asking the voters their opinion on legislative policy. Advisory referenda are usually submitted to the electorate at April or November elections. Since statehood, 51 questions have been submitted to the electorate. Most recently, five statewide advisory referenda questions related to the subject of gambling and one on nuclear waste sites were submitted to the voters in April 1993.

Wisconsin county boards may submit advisory or ratifying referenda to county voters. Municipalities also are permitted and sometimes required to submit referendum questions relating to village and city charter ordinances and certain other subjects.

Recall. The Wisconsin Constitution and statutes provide for the removal of elected officers through a process of petition and special election, known as "recall". Officials may be recalled after serving the first year of a term, and no reason need be given for the recall in the case of a state, congressional, legislative, state judicial, or county officer. A petition seeking recall of a city, village, town or school district official must contain a statement of a reason for the recall. The reason must be related to the official responsibilities of the office, but the petitioners need not provide supporting evidence for the reason.

A recall primary is required whenever two or more persons compete for a nonpartisan office or whenever more than one person competes for the nomination of a political party for a partisan office. Unless the official facing recall resigns, he or she is listed on the recall ballot along with the other candidates who have been nominated according to statutory requirements.

Prior to 1977, the recall was seldom used. In August of that year, five La Crosse school board members were recalled, and in the following month a county judge was recalled for the first time in Wisconsin history. Attempts to recall state legislators are rare, but on June 4, 1996, a state senator became the first state legislator to be recalled.

The Mechanics of the Election Process

Certifying candidates, registering voters, and recording and reporting the votes of more than 2 million people is a complex process governed by state law. The Wisconsin Elections Board, which administers state election laws, prepares all official ballot forms and other election forms, certifies to each county clerk the list of candidates for national and state offices, and performs other duties pertaining to elections.

County clerks are responsible for preparing the ballots used for the election of federal, state and county officers and for distributing these ballots to the municipal clerks, except that some municipalities that use voting machines or an electronic voting system prepare their own ballots. The law requires that every city, village and town having a population of 7,500 or more use mechanical voting machines or an electronic voting system, unless otherwise permitted by the state Elections Board.

Municipal clerks supervise registration and elections in their municipalities. In cities or counties with more than 500,000 population, election duties are performed by a city board of election commissioners and a county board of election commissioners. (This provision currently applies only to the City of Milwaukee and Milwaukee County.)

The first step for the Wisconsin voter is registering to vote. (Registration is optional for municipalities having a population of 5,000 or less.) The registration form requires the signature of the voter and information on name, date, residence location, citizenship, age, length of residence in the applicant's ward or election district, and whether the applicant has lost his or her right to vote or is currently registered to vote at any other location. A voter's registration is considered permanent unless the person changes his or her residence, in which case it is necessary to reregister. Municipalities, however, often cancel the registration of a person who, though eligible, does not vote during a 4-year period and does not respond to a written request to apply for continued registration.

On election day, there are usually seven inspectors (election officials) for each polling place. In certain cases, the number may be greater or fewer, but no polling place may have fewer than three. Each political party may also appoint two observers and alternates for each polling place. In addition to official observers, any member of the public may be present in any polling place for the purpose of observation.

A voter who cannot come to the polling place on election day, either because of absence from the municipality, sickness, handicap, age, disability, military service, jury duty or religious reasons, may vote by absentee ballot. Every request for an absentee ballot must be made in writing.

When the polls close, the inspectors canvass the votes and deliver a statement, tally sheet and poll list to the municipal clerk. Where an electronic voting system is used, the count may be adjourned to a central location. If a municipality has more than one polling place, the returns from the polling places are canvassed by a municipal board of canvassers consisting of the municipal clerk and two qualified electors of the municipality appointed by the clerk, except in the City of Milwaukee where the board of election commissioners serves as the board of canvassers. Based on the canvass, the municipal clerk issues certificates of election to municipal elected officials.

The municipal clerk or board of election commissioners also delivers a copy of the inspectors' statements, tally sheets and poll lists for county, state and national elections to the county clerk or the county's board of election commissioners.

The county clerk and two persons appointed by the clerk constitute the county board of canvassers, except in Milwaukee County where the board of election commissioners serves as the board of canvassers. Appointees of the clerk must be qualified electors of the county and not of the same political party. This board examines the returns from the municipalities and forwards a tabulation for state and national offices and state referenda to the state Elections Board. The county clerk issues certificates of election to county elected officials.

The chairperson of the Elections Board examines the certified statements of the county canvassers and determines the votes cast for each state and national office and the outcome of each statewide referendum. The Elections Board then issues certificates of election to all persons elected to a state office. The board also issues certificates or prepares certificates for issuance by the governor to persons elected to national offices from this state.

Campaign Financing

The regulation of campaign financing in Wisconsin began with Chapter 650, Laws of 1911, but was substantially revised by Chapter 334, Laws of 1973, with the intent of giving voters more complete information about who is supporting or opposing which candidate or cause and the extent of that support. Substantive changes have been made several times since then. Chapter 11 of the Wisconsin Statutes codifies current campaign financing regulations.

Duties of the Elections Board. The state Elections Board maintains financial statements for campaigns for state offices and statewide referenda, including current reports and statements pertaining to each candidate, individual, committee or group.

It investigates violations of the election laws and must notify the district attorney, the attorney general or the governor of any facts or evidence it may have that might be grounds for civil action or criminal prosecution. The board supervises the auditing of campaign finance reports submitted in connection with state elections. The board also receives copies of campaign financing reports filed with respect to federal elections held in this state. (County and municipal clerks maintain financial statements for campaigns for county and municipal office and county and municipal referenda.)

Contributions and Expenditures. Each candidate must appoint one campaign treasurer and designate one campaign depository before receiving any contributions or making any expenditures. The candidate and campaign treasurer are then required to file a registration statement. Unless exempted from reporting, the candidate, or the treasurer acting on the candidate's behalf, must file periodic financial reports. The candidate is responsible for the accuracy of these reports. Expenditures from the campaign depository may not be made anonymously, nor may contributions or expenditures be made in a fictitious name. All political advertisements must identify their sources.

A candidate for office must file a registration statement regardless of the amount of money received or disbursed by the candidate. Political party committees, other committees or groups that make or accept contributions or make expenditures amounting to more than $25 per year, and individuals (other than candidates) who accept contributions or make expenditures amounting to more than $25 per year must file a registration statement. These statements include such information as the name and address of the registrant, the officers, the campaign depository and the candidate or referendum question supported or opposed.

Subsequently, these committees, groups and individuals must file full reports summarizing all contributions received, obligations incurred and expenditures made, including the name, address and total contribution of each contributor donating more than $20 in any calendar year; an itemization of each expenditure over $20; and a separate statement giving the occupation and place of employment of any contributor donating more than $100 in any calendar year. Nonresident committees, groups, or individuals making contributions or expenditures in this state must also file their names and addresses and those of a designated agent in the state with the secretary of state. Registrants whose financial activity does not exceed $1,000 per year may be exempted from reporting. Beginning on July 1, 1999, registrants with the state Elections Board who accept contributions totaling more than $20,000 per year must file their reports electronically. These reports may be viewed on the Internet.

All campaign contributions exceeding $50 must be made by check or other negotiable instrument so their origin is known. All campaign expenditures must be made or reimbursed by negotiable instrument drawn upon the campaign depository. An anonymous contribution from a single source in excess of $10 may not be accepted but must be donated either to a charity or to the common school fund.

Limitations are imposed upon the amounts that may be received by candidates from certain sources. Other than a candidate's own contributions to the campaign, no individual may contribute more than the amounts specified to the following candidates or any individuals or voluntary committees supporting them: constitutional officer (governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state, state treasurer, attorney general, or superintendent of public instruction) or supreme court justice – $10,000; state senator – $1,000; representative to the assembly – $500; and all other state and local candidates – a maximum of $250 to $3,000 depending upon the office. Furthermore, no individual may make contributions to a combination of candidates or other registrants that exceed a total of $10,000 in any calendar year.

No committee, other than a political party or legislative campaign committee, may make any contributions to a candidate for one of the constitutional administrative offices or justice of the supreme court of more than 4% of the candidate's expenditure level specified by law; nor may such a committee make contributions to candidates for other state and local offices in excess of the monetary limits specified by law.

The total contributions made by committees to a political party may not exceed $150,000 in any biennium, and no political party may receive more than $6,000 in any biennium from a specific committee or its subunits or affiliates. No committee may make any combination of contributions to a political party exceeding $6,000 per calendar year. (These limitations do not apply to contributions made by political party or legislative campaign committees.)

A candidate may not receive more than 65% of the total authorized expenditure level (less any public grant moneys received) from all other committees, including political party and legislative campaign committees. Of this amount, not more than 45% (less any public grant moneys received) may be received from special interest or political action committees, personal campaign committees of other candidates, or committees formed to support other candidates. (A support committee is a committee organized to support the prospective candidacy of an individual.)

Independent Expenditures. Usually, expenditures in support of a candidate (or in opposition to the candidate's opponent) must be made with the supported candidate's authorization. However, independent expenditures are permitted if the individual or committee making the expenditure swears the action is taken without the cooperation of or consultation with the candidate or candidate's agent. The individual or committee making the independent expenditure must register with the appropriate filing officer and file the required oath before making any independent expenditures.

Legislative Campaign Committees. Chapter 328, Laws of 1979, authorized the creation of legislative campaign committees for each party in each house of the legislature. These committees are not bound by the limitations placed on the contributions of special interest committees to legislative candidates but are treated as political party committees for contribution limit purposes.

Political Action Committees. A political action committee (PAC) is any entity, other than an individual, that makes or accepts contributions or makes expenditures for political purposes. A political party, legislative campaign or personal campaign committee, or a committee formed to support the prospective candidacy of a specific candidate cannot be classified as a PAC. PACs, which often are sponsored by trade or professional associations or labor organizations, make contributions to candidates or committees or make expenditures on behalf of candidates or committees. They may also raise contributions to influence referenda. PACs often make contributions to multiple candidates and do not necessarily support one party over the other.

Currently, a PAC's direct contributions to a candidate are limited to $43,128 per campaign for a gubernatorial candidate, $1,000 per campaign for a state senate candidate, and $500 per campaign to an assembly candidate. However, besides making contributions to a candidate directly, PACs may contribute to political party committees or any of the four legislative campaign committees (the respective Democratic and Republican committees in the assembly and the senate), in which case the PAC per-candidate limitations do not apply.

Public Campaign Financing. Chapter 107, Laws of 1977, created a campaign fund in the state treasury whereby each individual who files a state income tax return and has a tax liability or is entitled to a tax refund may specify that $1 shall be set aside for this fund without increasing the person's liability or reducing the refund. (The $1 contributions are derived from an appropriation created by the legislature to support the campaign fund.)

The public campaign fund is available to candidates for statewide executive and judicial offices, as well as legislative candidates, for use after the primary, provided that they obtain a specified number of primary votes and raise a specified amount of private contributions from individuals in amounts limited to $100 or less per individual. The campaign fund is apportioned by office in accordance with a specified formula.

To receive public funding, a candidate must agree to accept spending limits and limit personal contributions to his or her own campaign. These restrictions are lifted if the candidate's opponent qualifies for a grant but decides not to accept it and declines to file a sworn statement affirming adherence to the limits. Any public campaign funds the candidate accepts are counted towards the maximum limit on PAC contributions (45% of a candidate's spending limit), thereby limiting this source of contributions for those who accept these funds.

Money from the campaign fund must be used only for media advertising, printing, graphic arts or advertising services, office supplies, or postage. Other campaign expenses must be financed with contributions from individuals, political parties, PACs or other committees.

[Article IV] Section 24 (5) This section shall not prohibit pari-mutuel on-track betting as provided by law. The state may not own or operate any facility or enterprise for pari-mutuel betting, or lease any state-owned land to any other owner or operator for such purposes. All moneys received by the state that are attributable to pari-mutuel on-track betting shall be used for property tax relief for residents of this state as provided by law. The distribution of moneys that are attributable to pari-mutuel on-track betting may not vary based on the income or age of the person provided the property tax relief. Any advertising of the state lottery shall indicate the odds of a specific lottery ticket to be selected as the winning ticket for each prize amount offered. The net proceeds of the state lottery shall be deposited in the treasury of the state, to be used for property tax relief for residents of this state as provided by law. The distribution of the net proceeds of the state lottery may not vary based on the income or age of the person provided the property tax relief.
